VOL. XI.

The end of four brief years is fast approaching. Soon will dawn the day when we must bid farewell to our Alma Mater, and with silence and unaccustomed humility depart from the school we love so well, and enter, a little hesitatingly, the different walks of life open to us. In memory of happy days now past but with hope of happier days to come, the Class of 1939 presents this book.

FOREWORD

DEDICATION

We, the Class of 1939, a representative group of the youth of the nation, as we leave the protection of our School wish to reaffirm our faith in the principles which have made possible the opportunities we have enjoyed. We desire to show our appreciation to that which has done most for us and to dedicate this book and ourselves to our representative form of government, to our Democracy.

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

It was a cold, dark March evening. The wind shrieked crazily and the rain slashed in great torrents at the curtained windows of my home near Lake Crukie. I was peacefully dozing in the comforting warmth of my fire when I was suddenly startled by a soft, gentle knock on my door. My eyes flew open just in time to see the knob turn slowly. In the doorway stood, for a fraction of a second, a tall woman, her cloak covered with burrs and dripping with rain; her blue-black hair falling in wild disarray around her shoulders and thin, dark face. In an instant she slid into my room, and the door closed. As I stared at this woman in the flickering fire-light, she asked for the shelter of my roof. I nodded watching her as she flung aside her cloak with a sweep of an elbow. From under her arm she brought forth a shining crystal globe. She stared at it with soft, glowing eyes, caressing it with thin, brown fingers. She looked up at my intent face. "I am a crystal reader," she said simply, "and all you wish to know—." She shrugged young shoulders. "I am at your service." Instantly I thought of my high school friends. A good ten years had passed since I had seen any of them. Determined to find out what they had done or were doing, I turned to her and asked. She smiled, a slow beautiful smile that lit up the dark features of her face. As she bent over the shining crystal, she whispered in her husky voice:

"There are shadows moving . . . many shadows . . . ahh . . . it is getting more clear . . . I see . . . yes . . . I believe he is known as Paul Haver. He is speaking to thousands of people. They applaud, greatly enthused over his speech. The Senator of Pennsylvania, surrounded by his body guard, is duly escorted to his waiting limousine.

"And now you ask about that great Russian football and basketball star, John Herbik. He is Notre Dame's coach at present, and has had one of the most successful football seasons in the history of the school.

"Betty Boyle floats into the lime-light. She is teaching kinder-garten at Dry Tavern. Her noon hour is spent at Twin Gables where she enjoys a daily dish of specially flavored 'sardines'.

"Dotty Baily and Marjorie Fox have rented a shack in the lower East End of Carmichaels. It is situated on the tract of land commonly referred to as No Man's Land. They have originated the Ye Old Gossip Club of which Dotty is President.

"Glenn Allayaud is a health instructor at the Physical Culture School in Harrisburg.

"Pauline Rumancik and Jenny Krol have bought a little bungalow on the outskirts of Crucible. In their sunbonnets they patter around in their vegetable garden and to themselves, 'reckon it's nigh time we wuz gittin' hitched'.

"Matt Ziomek is a great optician in Nemacolin.

"Bertha Andrews still reads True Confessions, True Stories, and True Experiences.

Appearing on the Great White Way in New York City is Rudy Swansiger, that great heart throb of high school days. He is the idol of the Bronx girls who come nightly to see and give him the usual rousing Bronx cheer.

"Donald Haggerty has won the hand of sweet, wistful Marjorie Barclay. They plan to spend their honeymoon in Fort Jackson Hotel, financed, of course, by Marjorie's father.

"Eleanor Reeves performs her daily exercising feats in a pile of sweet-smelling hay in her neighbor's barn. Her audience, composed mostly of cows, are vastly amused. They mooo their appreciation.

"Russell Nicholson travels the open, beckoning road. The only sorrow in his otherwise happy life was when a good housewife compelled him to take a bath before giving him a free meal.

"Betty Rembold is a polor-maid in the home of Crucible's wealthiest citizen. She is very adept at her work . . . dusting off the piano with her dust mop, and brushing the dust off on the chairs by sitting on them.

"Andy Ditko is a tobacco sampler way down yonder in New Orleans. He readily acknowledges the fact that chewing tobacco is a less difficult job than working in Crucible's Coal Mine.

"One of our high school troubadours is on the ether waves. Walter Ondrejko is heard nightly on BSB Stringtown. He has written a sure hit, "She Scorned My Love."

"Pearl Ross and Melda Mahle are housekeeping in a tiny cabin just built for two. At present one is engaged in pouring food in the piggie troughs while the other lustily calls to her ducks and chickens.

"Quinty Palone, star outfielder of the Sacramento Spaghetti Jugglers, is recuperating on his spaghetti farm. Only last week he won a spaghetti eating contest held at Miami, Fla. He is expected to enter the World Eating Contest (Italian Food) next year in sunny Italy.

"Peggy Ryan has been experimenting with several dyes. She has profited considerably by these experiments.

" 'Come and get it before I chuck it out!' is Wayne Reynold's daily cry. He is chief cook on the CCC's staff.

"Janet Scott operates a joint-ownership garage with Pearl Morofsky. They deal in the new '49 super-charged autos just on the market. Pearl has just completed a day's work when the car she was driving wandered off the road at 80 per and listlessly slid into a clover field.

"The post-office in Carmichaels boasts of a new post-master, Glenn Donley, Jr. The urchins of the town gaze at him with awe and admiration as he busily licks and pastes stamps without getting intoxicated.

"Ann Ellenberger is a State Police Dame who patrols the road between Carmichaels and Crucible. She offers lifts to all the handsome hitchhikers. Beware! boys, she carries a gun and the Justice of the Peace is near!

"Frank Ersagovich, once a poor boy, recently has been granted his fifth divorce. He plans to spend his remaining days in retirement. His alimony will take care of the money-angle.

"The pool room hasn't changed a bit. Neither has Joe Ersagovich. The pool room still resounds with his laughter and his friends' pockets still jingle with his losings.

"Lydia Gnatuk is sitting in the same position she did ten years ago. She has covered barely 6,897 feet in the years since she left school.

"Many a dispairing chicken flys across a country road, her feathers high in the air. Just in time, too, for Charles Fartley, sitting carelessly in his low-slung roadster, doesn't mind a bit if he helps to give the farmer a stew for dinner.

are spent in a rocking chair . . . knitting . . . knitting . . . stockings for hubbie!

"The boss thinks that John Lee is his best ditch digger. He isn't wrong either. Everytime John goes into anything, he takes as much as he can out of it.

"Charles Filipovich is scouting around before he gets married. He is looking for a young and beautiful girl who can make poppy-seed cake, nut cake, and raisin bread and sauerkraut like his mother used to make. (O. K. Chiz, keep on looking and when you find one, perhaps in thirty years, call me up and let me know.)

"Garage work is Arthur Lint's vocation and he has gone in it in a big way. He has given it deep thought. He has been rewarded by the brilliant idea of draining the few drops of gas in the hose after each sale.

"Lillian Mayhle, society leader of Fairdale, is a frequent and a very welcome patron at Luella B. McDermott's 'Alah Beauty Salon'.

"Jew Hill has been honored by Mike Maruska, the new, a-few-cents-cheaper shoemaker. In spite of his reduced prices, Mike still manages to get by. He pegs and pegs and usually pegs more than a few cents.

"John McCann is a professional wrestler. Of all the bouts in which he has wrestled, he has lost 0. Many of you may wonder at this but his wife was the referee whose word no one dared doubt.

"Meryl Miller is married and, to be different from other women, is living with her husband. They have succeeded admirably in raising a number of children to brighten their lives in their old age.

"Charles McMinn, the lucky guy, has obtained the much sought after position of Sports Editor on the "Old Gent's Journal."

"Clyde Geisel drives his father's '49 Shivy around the patches in Nemacolin. They take the different bumps and thumps in the road like a duck takes to water.

"Loretta Jazwa, Cumberland's favorite, is in Philadelphia. She has a little hat shop on one of the main streets of that city. Too bad she doesn't deal in men's apparel for there'd be a grand rush for her place.

"Margie Hunyady's giggles are still floating around. Her father speculatively eyes the young lads that make night dates a habit and who sprawl over the best chairs and elevate their shoes on the near-by table. He wonders, a little despairingly, if there is a catch in the bunch.

"John Harky is a shark at bookkeeping. He is employed in the Company store at Nemacolin as chief booker.

"Helen Homrock's hair-raising, piercing shrieks of laughter have been recorded. They are used nightly on the air in the program, "Chills at Midnight."

"Fairdale's horse-trainer, Raymond Jordan, has in his possession a blue-blooded horse and is planning to enter him in the Kentucky Derby.

"Mary Ann Kaifesh is now a very famous person in her own right. In knee high boots and an old skirt and sweater she fishes in Muddy Creek. The surprising thing is that she does catch fish . . . nice fish, too.

"Walter Klysh, Cumberland's naughty boy, was for a time contemplating entering priesthood. But fate had other things in store for him. He became interested in Horvat music and so organized an instrumental trio, "The Three Polkers," who play at all the Weddings and Christenings in Crucible.

"Frank Ferens drives over to Nemacolin every so often in the car he manages to coax from his dad. He's interested chiefly in the people that walk up and down the road past the little red school house. He is looking for local color for he intends to write a book soon.

"Catherine Grubbs is getting a weekly wage from neighboring mothers who have finally realized that Catherine's facial expressions are the very things to keep their beloved brats from shedding tears.

"Freda Haines is still on her farm out in the wilderness. Soon will come the day when she will shed her bearskin and come out to see how the other half lives.

"Paul Fortney entered the motorcycle races at the world-famous Anteneeda track at Carmichaels. He came in first . . . head first when his cycle overturned on the famous Horseshoe Curve.

"Irene Havanis, Crucible's wonder girl, is in Paris studying the art of designing clever evening gowns for the debbies of Crucible Alleys.

"A new addition on Bailey's pay-roll is Joe Fotta. He drives the Bailey milk-truck. His employer has just presented him with a new-born calf for a birthday gift. The funny wrinkled face, and thin, weak legs remind him of a girl he once knew, so Joe named her Bessie.

"The boys still discuss Delores Helmick in low tones. Her beauty is too real to be true. She has gone to Chicago where she is the toast of Babies Food Products. Her lovely fresh charm of youth enables her to pose as babies' nursemaid.

"Frank Gavlak is a pilot on the Buckeye Flip Airways. His chief interests in life are flying, eating, sleeping, and calling on the girl he has been seeing for the last four years.

"Emo Bertugli, the romantic little Italian, has entered pictures and is starred with a great actress in the tear jerker "He Brought Her Sorrows, He Brought Her Tears." The brute!

"Leona Herrod has gone to London on the Queen Mary. She plans to join her parents in France then resume her trip to Italy, Switzerland and perhaps Soviet Russia.

"Helen Bell is an instructor at Miss Porter's exclusive school for young girls. She is paid a very satisfactory salary, making it more satisfactory by accepting forbidden tips from her wealthy charges.

"George Bolak, handsome and twenty-eight, is busy figuring up how many years he must wait before he can receive his old-age pension. At present he is supported by his wife . . . she loves it . . . yeah.

"James Boyle devotes most of his time to his curly headed sons who he hopes will become Cumberland's pigskin carriers in '55.

"Mavis Byers has worn a path in the Nemacolin roads. Her figure still has that streamline curve and will never loose it if she continues walking off her calories.

"John Baily has a skating rink in Khedive. Farmers welcomed, of course, skating from seven to nine; then the old-fashioned rag time square dance for the next five hours.

"Evelyn Cales is a torch singer in one of New York high spots. Her salary would make any teacher's teeth pop out.

"Harry Kott has a modern photographer's shop conveniently centered in industrial Nemacolin's shopping district. His rates are high but the pictures are more than worth it.

"Walter Lasko is living in Reddog Street, Nemacolin. His summer nights are spent so romantically . . . throwing shoes at the squalling and spitting cats out in the alleys.

"Margaret Krajnak models for a well-known store in Carmichaels. She models junior dresses, priced $3.95 and up. Only dresses are purchasable. Margaret is not included.

"Margaret Krause is following in her sister's footsteps. She has become a teacher at the Borough school in Carmichaels. Her students are very fond of her. So fond that they place tacks on her chair, and snakes in the drawers of her desk. They love to hear her scream; it interrupts class.

"Alice Koroly has opened a hot-dog stand near Carmichaels High School. She is greatly disappointed in the neighborhood. All the dogs are leashed. And the cats from the alleys are too scrawny to be considered.

"Otto Kowalski has been going to Pitt College for the past eight years. He doesn't like it very much, because he believes the work is too hard. Yes, it is a very hard school. One must work when he goes in there.

"Marie Lipchinsky is living with her grandmother in Uniontown. Since it is on a farm, Marie must drive home the cows from the pastures and milk them.

"Henry Krol, a wrestler in his own right, keeps shop on Jew Hill for his mother who is quite aged. He specializes in nutted ice creams and candies. No credit.

"Harvey Cunningham teaches Problems of Democracy to the seniors of '49 who were seniors in the ill-fated year of '39. There'll come a day, boys, when it'll be your graduation day.

"Elnora Clark still manages to look confused if a boy talks to her. But, she has been married seven years and is the bewildered mother of a nice squad of children.

"Matthew Cwikiel is the brains of Cumberland High School. He teaches Biology and is on friendly terms with his bugs.

"Margie Doman owns several colossal, gigantic, enterprises in most of the larger cities of Pennsylvania. She sits in the balconies and calmly throws peanut shells on the annoyed but dignified audience below.

"William Sauers is an accountant in the private bank owned by Kennie Sloneker. He has a great passion for the vault situated in the under-ground tunnel.

"Helen Waters still chews gum with the same slow motion of ten years ago. She has been asking experts on gum if there is a certain brand that will not lose its flavor after two days. As yet, she has not met with success.

"Albert Slannina is a nice fat bartender in Serbiantown. He welcomes anyone with jack. Albert is the center attraction.

"Steve Szalia writes the column in the Press Paper entitled "L'le Abner, Jr."

"William Varesko is a criminal lawyer in New York. He was admitted to the bar at the age of 21 and has managed to frequent it quite often ever since.

"Charles Vok works in the meat market on Jew Hill. He always manages to give the finest cuts of meat to his friends . . . which means everyone.

The husky voice faded away. Deep silence reigned, broken only by the rain beating against the windows and the wind winding it's cold fingers around the cottage striving to enter through tiny cracks and crevices. I stirred in my comfortable chair, loath to rise and throw a log on the dying fire. I glanced at my visitor. Her head was pillowed on her arm; her eyes were closed; and her face bore lines of weary travel. The crystal was safe in the hollow of the other arm. Only the gentle rise and fall of her bosom denoted life in her body. Her cloak, now dry, was at her feet. Sighing, I picked it up, and drew it gently over her. Putting a dry log on the fire, I watched the hungry flames spring about it, then looking slowly around the deeply-shadowed room, I retired to my chamber.

I was up with the dawn. Remembrance of last night came to me. I put on my slippers and rushed to the other room. My greeting died on my lips, for only emptiness greeted me . . . grey ashes in the grate . . . chillness of the room . . . nothing remained to tell me of the visitor who had slept by my fire. Nothing . . .only a burr near the edge of the white, soft carpet.

Juniors of the school term '38-'39 have been more spunky and active than any other junior class of recent years has been. Their program has far exceeded any other class program in Cumberland High.

Perhaps the most outstanding event in carrying out the junior program is the prom, a dream of all junior classes, which is to be held on the twelfth of May, after the Cumberlander goes to press. The prom will be financed by the treasury of the junior class which has been filled by class dues, the receipts of five sweaterhops, and a dance. Also, a play, "The Absent-minded Bridegroom," will help pay for the prom.

This year as in many other years, the junior girls' and boys' basketball teams played the senior teams; and, although we were defeated, we have the best teams just the same!

HISTORY

After struggling through the first few weeks of school as freshmen, we finally came down to earth and began to take school seriously. Of course, we were put through the usual customs of ducking and wearing signs at football games. Our only social activity of the year was a freshmen party.

In the fall of '38 we returned to the school as sophomores. After initiating the freshmen in the same manner as we had been, we again settled down to work. As is the custom, we held a sophomore party which was a success.

Ours is the largest sophomore class ever to enter this high school despite the fact that we have lost many members.

Bialko, Martof, Antonini, and Cerjanec represented us in football; Tekavec and Martof in basketball.

We hope to uphold the record that the juniors have established this year.

To the seniors we wish happiness and success in life.

FOOTBALL

Our football team began its 1938 season at Donora with the Dragons, a "AA" school and one of the strongest teams in the Valley, offering the opposition. Our boys were no match for the Dragons in weight and experience but by stubborn resistance held them scoreless until the last moments of the first half when they scored on an off tackle slant. The Dragons scored again in the third quarter but were unable to score in the last because our boys tightened up their defense. Our boys were on the defensive most of the game.

The spirits of the Cumberland fans were very low on the eve of the Jefferson game, considered by many as the most important game of the year. Three of our varsity men, Herbik with influenza, Sanner and Sebenich with appendicitis, were unable to play. Jefferson scored once in the first quarter and once in the last on smashing power plays and converted one extra point while our boys failed to tally. However, later the W. P. I. A. L. rules committee declared the game forfeited to us because Jefferson used two ineligible players.

The Waynesburg game provided many thrills for our fans. Waynesburg scored in the first quarter on a long pass. A few minutes later our team tallied on almost the same play. Waynesburg succeeded in making their extra point while our boys failed to convert. Late in the third quarter Martof smashed the line and ran 60 yards for a touchdown. Again the boys failed to convert, making the score 12-7. Everything looked bright for our team until, within a few minutes of the final gun, Waynesburg completed a long pass which put them in scoring distance. After failing to score in three attempts they finally tallied on a wide end run. It didn't matter that they failed to convert the extra point.

Our team played its last game of the season on our home field with German Township offering the opposition. The teams were evenly matched and the game ended in a scoreless tie.

The team finished the season having won four, lost four, and tied one.

Herbik led the individual scoring with 31 points, Kovascik, Martof, Gusich, and Bialko were next with 6 points each. Oros and Sebenich, 1 point each.

Lost to the team because of graduation will be: Herbik, Swansiger, Kovascik, Ersagovich, Bailey, Ditko and Lasko.

Two of our outstanding players, Acting Captain Herbik, and Ersogovich, were honored with berths on the all-county team.

The usual lineup for the two teams used this past season was as follows:

L. E.—Sebenich	L. E.—Barkish
L. T.—Randolph	L. T.—Ditko
L. G.—Ersagovich	L. G.—Ward
C.—Swansiger	C.—Antonini
R. G.—Sanners	R. G.—Cerjanic
R. T.—Ferretti	R. T.—Bailey
R. E.—Gusich	R. E.—Gregovich
Q. B.—Lasko	Q. B.—Kovocsik
L. H.—Herbik	L. H.—Hockenberry
R. H.—Bialko	R. H.—Yanchus
F. B.—Martof	F. B.—Oros

Other boys, although not on the varsity this past year but will probably see plenty of service next year, are as follows: Zagoric, Andrews, Cybak, Tekavec, Mahle, Shimek, Strosnider, Krause, Schimonsky, Fuller, Petratus, and Palone.

BASKETBALL

When basketball came into view over our sporting horizon it found a group of new, but determined boys practicing the fine arts of the game. These boys soon expanded their knowledge of the game and molded into a team that was plenty of competition for the high school teams in this section.

Our boys began the season at Georges and won a close decision over the York Run boys. This was the beginning of a fine pre-league record, the team winning six and losing three.

Despite the fine showing in the pre-league tilts, we did not do so well in the first half of the league race. We were defeated by every team in the league, though always by close scores. However, in the second half, we defeated Waynesburg and Trinity, but lost again to Canonsburg and Washington. This rally in the last half came too late and our team finished in last place with Waynesburg.

Herbik, acting captain and scoring ace, was the outstanding athlete, not only in our school, but in this district. He was leading scorer in our section of the W. P. I. A. L. last season and finished second this season. He was also honored with a position on the all-section team. He has had an average of more than 13 points per game during the last two seasons.

WRESTLING

Our wrestling team for the past season was the best we have had since wrestling was introduced in our school four years ago. The team had a record of 10 victories and five defeats, and was the most successful team in our school this year.

The team gave the Canonsburg champions who have gone undefeated for the past four years, their toughest and closest match of the season. Having to forfeit five points, we lost to the champs by the close score, 22 to 18.

Miller and Ferretti won second place honors in their respective weights at the W. P. I. A. L. tournament at the Waynesburg Armory.

Our team won the Greene County Wrestling Tournament which was held at our school. Each school was allowed to enter two boys in each weight. The team won five first places, four seconds, and two thirds.

Graduation will take away from the team: Captain Krol, Wozniak, Lasko, Kovacsik, Chamberlain, Cunningham, Lint, and Bailey.

Members of the squad who did not wrestle in inter-scholastic competition were: Andrews, Cole, Caravaggio, Lapsovich, Mondichak, Zagoric, Vak, Rudolph Curtis, Robert Curtis, Palcho, F. Clark, and Grooms.

DEBATE

FIRST ROW—Donald Haggerty, Coach Ruth Baily, Paul Haver.
SECOND ROW—Vera Husher, Edna Ersagovich, Majorie Morofsky, Wilma Moore.
THIRD ROW—Eugene Yanchus, Mildred Sloneker, Mike Babyak.

In the latter part of October, the debaters, under the able supervision of Miss Ruth Baily, began to clear the Cobwebs out of their minds and to think about debating for another year. The question for debate was very timely: "Resolved: "That the United States should establish an alliance with Great Britain." This question, very interesting but also very complicated, at the time seemed rather hectic to the debators. From the many promising applicants for the team, Miss Baily finally selected for the affirmative team, Mildred Sloneker and Paul Haver, and for the negative team, Mike Babyak and Donald Haggerty.

Our teams have been fairly successful this year. In December we went to Pittsburgh and participated in a practice tournament at the University of Pittsburgh. Since then, we have taken part in tournaments at Monessen, Charleroi and Bentleyville. On March 18, we were host to nineteen schools of the National Forensic League at a tournament in our school. We have had debates with schools in our district. We will take part in the County Contest at Waynesburg on March 31 and April 1. Two members, Donald Haggerty and Paul Haver, will be lost by graduation.

GIRLS' CLUB

FIRST ROW—Janet Scott, Marie Agnes Callaghan, Eleanor Reeves.
SECOND ROW—Ruth Forsythe, Delores Helmick, Mary Marjorie Barclay, Mavis Byers.
THIRD ROW—Sponsor Harriette Baily, Lois Dague, Alice Koroly.

The Girls' "C" Club has become a well known club in our school. Membership is sought after by all the girls. To become a member a girl must have 1,000 points acquired through gym work, games, special activities such as demonstrations and tournaments, general school spirit and attitude, and a scholastic standing of an S average. Good sportsmanship is considered one of the most essential qualifications for membership. Athletic ability is not so important as good sportsmanship.

As the girls are taken into the C Club they are presented with a pin purchased for them by the club. They are also given the privilege of buying a letter "C", which they can wear on their sweaters to show everyone that they are members of one of the most important societies of the school.

This year the officers are: Janet Scott, President; Marie Callaghan, Vice-President; Eleanor Reeves, Secretary-treasurer. Under these officers and their faculty advisor, Miss Harriett Baily, the following events were sponsored by the "C" club this year: December 9, Sweater Hop; February 24, Mapletown game at home; April 6, Easter-egg Raffle; April 21, Sweater Hop; May 5, Mother and Daughter night, and May 19, Play Day.

FUTURE CRAFTSMEN OF AMERICA

FIRST ROW—Charles Cunningham, Eugene Crumrine, Harvey Cunningham, Sponsor Phillip Young.
SECOND ROW—Rudolph Curtis, Victor Orban, Henry Ross.
THIRD ROW—Thomas Estle, Tommie Fuller, James Hartley, George Drombosky.

The F. C. A., a new club in our school, was organized the last few weeks of the 1938 school term. The membership then included Eugene Crumrine (Pres.), Andy Strednak (Vice-Pres.), Harvey Cunningham (Sec.), Charles Cunningham (Treas.), Henry Ross, and George Drombosky. By election, the following boys were added this year: James Hartley, Victor Orban, Thomas Fuller, and Rudolph Curtis. The faculty advisor of the club is Mr. Young.

The F. C. A. is a nationwide organization. Its annual convention will be held at Connelley Vocational High School of Pittsburgh, March 30 to April 1. Our chapter of the club will represent Cumberland. We will participate in the contests, banquets, dancing, swimming, touring, lectures, movies, and many other activities. The club leaves school March 31 and will return April 1, staying overnight at the Y. M. C. A. On these tours the members get a chance to see other shops and compare them with our own, and see what other chapters of the F. C. A. are doing.

The club has built many things for the school; this was primarily the reason for its organization. Among its contributions are projection stand, bookcase, magazine racks, nut bowls and shaper table; many desks have been refinished. It also builds scenery for the school plays.

The club held a Valentine Dance, a play called "Robot College", and sold projects which they made to raise the money for their trip to the F. C. A. convention.

NATIONAL HONORARY SOCIETY

FIRST ROW—Dorothy Crockard, Ruth Cole, Mary Ann Kulfesh, Don Haggerty, Luella McDermott, Genevieve Krul, Pauline Rumancik, Evelyn Coles.
SECOND ROW—Quinty Palone, Mavis Byers, Marjorie Barclay, Alice Karoly, Helen Bell, Rhoda Crago, Matthew Cwikiel.
THIRD ROW—Walter Ondrejka, Arthur Lint, Paul Haver, Harry Kurt.

The National Honorary Society was organized in February, 1921, with the first Charter granted to the Fifth Avenue High School, Pittsburgh, Pa. There are now approximately 2300 charter clubs distributed among the secondary schools of the United States, Philippine Islands, Hawaiian Islands, Porto Rico, and China.

The founders of the society planned the society to create an enthusiasm for scholarship, to encourage the students to render service to the school and to the community, to promote leadership by the pupil, and to stimulate the student to develop his character. The society also makes a member eligible for loans of money to continue his career in College.

The 1938-39 rules of the Cumberland Township chapter are: Membership is based on a point system. Ten points per semester for a year. An A counts for three points and an S for one. Membership is limited to Juniors and Seniors.

When a student is taken into the society he is given a certificate and a membership card. He is then allowed to buy a pin if he cares to. The pin is very attractive and it is quite an honor to wear one. The honor of belonging to the National Honor Society is worth striving for.

Our society was organized this year with Donald Haggerty as President, and Luella McDermott as Secretary-Treasurer. There were 20 Senior members at the beginning of the year.

VARSITY C CLUB

FIRST ROW—Frank Ersagovich, Rudy Swanziger, Henry Krol, Pres. John Herbik, Sponsor Al Cree, Walter Lasko, James Kovacsik, Andy Ditko.

SECOND ROW—John McCann, Paul Conners, Frank Balko, Steve Sebenich, Chas. Gregovich, Eugene Yanchus, Sammy Palone, Quindy Paione.

For the fifth consecutive year the Varsity C Club was organized under the sponsorship of Albert Cree. At its first meeting the club, made up of twenty-two lettermen of football, basketball, and wrestling, elected President John Herbik, Vice-President Henry Krol, Secretary-Treasurer Walter Lasko. The purpose of the Club is three-fold: To purchase sweaters for the senior lettermen; to award letters to under-classmen; and to stimulate interest in athletics among the student body. To raise money to purchase the sweaters the Club held sweaterhops and a benefit basketball game, and sold candy during the noon hours and at athletic events. The boys purchased a royal blue coat styled sweater with gold letter and stripes. The number of stripes in the sleeve indicates the number of years the wearer earned a letter in his sport.

On the evening of March 14, the Rotary Club of Carmichaels honored the lettermen with a banquet. Attorney Charles Goodwin, who substituted for Roy M. Howley, athletic director at West Virginia University, gave the main speech of the banquet. As part of the entertainment, a moving picture of the Michigan State-West Virginia University football game was shown. A. W. Hesse, president of the Rotary Club, acted as toastmaster.

"MIKE" STAFF

FIRST ROW—John Harkey, Doris Swann, Lillian Valli, Editor Josephine Yurecic, Rudy Swansiger, Helen Kowalski, Helen Bell, Wilma Moore, Chas. McMinn.

SECOND ROW—Walter Ondrejka, Critic Madge Steele, Theresa Maruska, Mary Ann Kaifesh, Sponsor Josephine Kirkwood, Pearl Ta-lor, Neva Sharpnack, Sponsor Lois Wickersham, Chas. Vok.

Every six weeks the students return to their home rooms fifteen minutes earlier than usual. At this time there is silence; and smiles light up the room. Then the silence is broken by chattering and laughing. And another issue of the "Mike" has been enthusiastically received.

The "Mike" is published by the students. It contains news, sports, features, fashions, jokes, gossip, and literature centered about the school.

The information is written up by the reporters and given to the editor, who turns it over to Miss Steele. Miss Steele checks the material and gives it to the typists who block it and type it on stencils. Following mimeographing the pages are clipped together and the paper is ready for distribution.

LOOKING BACK

Since The Cumberlander must go to press before the end of the school year, we use this space to complete the records of the 1937-1938 term.

In the Greene County scholastic contests held at Waynesburg College, the following students were entered and won places as indicated:

American History:

Donald Haggerty—1st.
Harold Cunningham—2nd.
Walter Ondrejko—3rd.
Matthew Cwikiel.

English:

Freda Valli
Shirl Headlee
Anthony Sertich

Biology:

Tony Matras—2nd.
Grace Baer.
Charles Stilwell.

Algebra I:

William Young—1st.

In the County Forensic Contests these students placed:

Betty Callaghan—Shakespearian Reading—Second.
Freda Valli—Poetry Reading—Second.
Paula Geortz—Soprano Solo—Second.
Donald Haggerty—Oratorical Declamation—Second.

In debate looking back two years to the 1936-37 school year, we wish to record that debate teams composed of Matt Moore, J. R. Moore, Miller Sloneker, and Don Haggerty, coached by Ruth Baily, after local eliminations won the Pennsylvania Forensic and Music League State Contest at Altoona. Following this victory, the teams went to the nationwide tournament of the National Forensic League at Jacksonville, Ill.

Last year debate teams composed of Mildred Moore, Paul Haver, Marjorie Barclay, and Don Haggerty won the Greene Co. title of the P. F. M. L. but lost in the inter-county contest.

In the Western Pennsylvania Typing Contest held at Duquesne University the following students entered:

Senior Division:
Earl Burnette—Sixth place.
Mary Negria.

Junior Division.
Josephine Yurecic—Eighth place.
Rudy Swansiger.

In the Pennsylvania State Commercial contest held at Jefferson, Pa., three students entered: Helen Yesso, who placed second, Mary Negria, and Gertrude Wolf.

On May 13, 1938, the Girls' C Club held their annual Play Day. Girls' from Waynesburg, Mapletown, East Bethlehem, Aleppo, and Cumberland High Schools participated.

You and I, the school play of 1938, directed by Miss Steele, included in the cast: Charles McMinn, Janet Scott, Grace Stoll, James Kovascik, Eleanor Reeves, Ewing Miller, and Paul Haver.

NEW ADVERTISING POLICY

The advertising staff of the "Cumberlander" inaugurated an entirely different system of advertising from that used in the previous issues. The arrangement used previously consisted in grouping the various ads on the last few pages of the book. This did not add to the appearance of the book; it did not direct the proper attention to the firms that had purchased space. It also used several pages that might otherwise have been used for school material.

In choosing a new system, the staff tried to consider the stand of the business-men, upon whose support the success of the book to a great degree depends. Several of these men revealed that they do not consider an ad in an annual as "advertising" in the usual, mercenary sense of the word. They felt that it was really an expression of the firm's good-will toward the members of the graduating class and the school. With this in mind, the staff decided upon an entirely different arrangement.

After listening to the plan, the various business-men of the surrounding districts readily agreed to sponsor portions of the book. The new plan permits the use of many more pages for school material, while at the same time, it provides a closer connection between the "Cumberlander" and those business men who have helped us.

If the reader will supply the words: "This page sponsored by———," before each ad or pair of ads the correct idea will be carried out.

The Cumberlander Staff has arranged the order of the sponsor-ads in the book, placing first those who sponsored full pages but otherwise being impartial. In cases where half pages were sponsored, no business connection is implied by placing two sponsors together.

These men are OUR friends; their support made OUR "Cumberlander" possible . . .

To them the Class of 1939 extends its goodwill and sincere appreciation.
